System Requirements Buy TOEFL Practice Online Volumes In paragraph 1, each of the following is mentioned as a feature of the city of Teotihuacán between A.D. 150 and 700 EXCEPT: regularly arranged streets several administrative centers spread across the city many manufacturing workshops apartment complexes The word "ingenuity" in paragraph 2 is closest in meaning to: ambition sincerity faith cleverness Which of the following is NOT mentioned in paragraph 2 as a main factor in the development of Teotihuacán? The presence of obsidian in the Teotihuacán Valley The potential for extensive irrigation of Teotihuacán Valley lands A long period of volcanic inactivity in the Teotihuacán Valley Teotihuacán's location on a natural trade route What can be inferred from paragraph 3 about Cuicuilco prior to 200 B.C.? It was a fairly small city until that date. It was located outside the Valley of Mexico. It emerged rapidly as an economical and political center. Its economy relied heavily on agriculture. Which of the following allowed Teotihuacán to have "a competitive edge over its neighbors"? A well-exploited and readily available commodity The presence of a highly stable elite class Knowledge derived directly from the Olmecs about the art of toolmaking Scarce natural resources in nearby areas such as those located in what are now the Guatemalan and Mexican highlands According to paragraph 4, what has recent research on obsidian tools found at Olmecsites shown? Obsidian's value was understood only when Teotihuacán became an important city. The residents of Teotihuacán were sophisticated toolmakers. The residents of Teotihuacán traded obsidian with the Olmecs as early as 400 B.C. Some of the obsidian used by the Olmecs came from the area around Teotihuacán. Select the TWO answer choices that are mentioned in paragraph 5 as being features of Teotihuacán that may have attracted immigrants to the city. To receive credit, you must select TWO answers. The prosperity of the elite Plenty of available housing Opportunities for well-paid agricultural employment The presence of one or more religious shrines In paragraph 6, the author discusses "The thriving obsidian operation," in order to: explain why manufacturing was the main industry of Teotihuacán give an example of an industry that took very little time to develop in Teotihuacán illustrate how several factors influenced each other to make Teotihuacán a powerful and wealthy city explain how a successful industry can be a source of wealth and a source of conflict at the same time In paragraph 1 of the passage, there is a missing sentence. The paragraph is repeated below and shows four letters (A, B, C, and D) that indicate where the following sentence could be added. In fact, artifacts and pottery from Teotihuacán have been discovered in sites as faraway as the Mayan lowlands, the Guatemalan highlands, northern Mexico, and the Gulf Coast of Mexico. Where would the sentence best fit? The city of Teotihuacán, which lay about 50 kilometers northeast of modern-day Mexico City, began its growth by 200–100 B.C. At its height, between about A.D. 150 and 700, it probably had a population of more than 125,000 people and covered at least 20 square kilometers. (A) It had over 2,000 apartment complexes, a great market, a large number of industrial workshops, an administrative center, a number of massive religious edifices, and a regular grid pattern of streets and buildings. (B) Clearly, much planning and central control were involved in the expansion and ordering of this great metropolis. (C) Moreover, the city had economic and perhaps religious contacts with most parts of Mesoamerica (modern Central America and Mexico). (D) Option A Option B Option C Option D Directions: An introductory sentence for a brief summary of the passage is provided below. Complete the summary by selecting the THREE answer choices that express the most important ideas in the passage. Some sentences do not belong in the summary because they express ideas that are not presented in the passage or are minor ideas in the passage. This question is worth 2 points. The number and sophistication of the architectural, administrative, commercial, and religious features of Teotihuacán indicate the existence of centralized planning and control. Teotihuacán may have developed its own specific local religion as a result of the cultural advances made possible by the city's great prosperity. Several factors may account for Teotihuacán's extraordinary development, including its location, rich natural resources, irrigation potential, intelligent elite, and the misfortune of rival communities. As a result of its large number of religious shrines, by the first century A.D., Teotihuacán became the most influential religious center in all of Mesoamerica. In many important areas, from the obsidian industry to religious tourism, Teotihuacán's success and prosperity typified the classic positive feedback cycle. Although many immigrants settled in Teotihuacán between A.D. 150 and 700, the increasing threat of coerced labor discouraged further settlement and limited Teotihuacán's population growth. In order to gain entrance to many universities in an English-speaking country, students must take and pass the TOEFL. This standardized test is not mandatory for every school in English-speaking countries, but it is accepted and even required by most major universities. Since 1964, the Educational Testing Service (ETS) has designed and administered the TOEFL. ETS is a private non-profit organization that sends official scores and reports directly to universities on behalf of each student. The TOEFL is one of two major English proficiency tests (along with the IELTS) that are widely accepted around the world. Needless to say, there are plenty of ways to prepare for the TOEFL, but it is extremely important that you know what to expect on the day of the test. In addition to knowing the types of questions on the test, you will also want to know how the TOEFL is administered, your allotted time, and all of the DO's and DON'Ts for the test day. There are technically two different forms of the TOEFL: the TOEFL iBT and TOEFL PBT. The latter is a paper-based exam that has mostly been phased out, though it is still offered at many ETS testing centers. However, the vast majority of students end up taking the TOEFL iBT, which is administered online via testing centers. Though each version of the TOEFL is administered in a different format, both tests are largely the same. The TOEFL is comprised of 4 distinct sections: Reading, Listening, Speaking, and Writing. Let's take a closer look at each section to better understand the structure of the exam. Reading Like any exam that tests your linguistic abilities, the TOEFL includes a reading section to analyze your reading comprehension abilities. This section includes passages of reading material from a wide variety of sources and topics, ranging from literature to science. Following each passage, you will need to answer questions to ensure that you understood the reading material. Allotted Time: 60-80 minutes Number of Questions: 36-56 Type of Questions: Multiple-choice Listening The listening section is often considered one of the most challenging parts of the TOEFL. Listening comprehension is particularly difficult in a second language, and this section consists of 4-6 lectures and 2-3 conversations, each followed by comprehension questions. The material generally covers academic topics, ranging from the arts to life sciences. Allotted Time: 60-90 minutes Number of Questions: 34-51 Type of Questions: Multiple-choice Speaking In the speaking section, students must respond to questions, speak on a predetermined topic, and read passages aloud. This section tests your ability to communicate effectively on a variety of academic topics. Though it is certainly a challenging section, it is also the shortest in terms of time allotment. Allotted Time: 20 minutes Number of Tasks: 6 Type of Questions: Spoken Writing The writing section tests your ability to use correct grammar, vocabulary, and writing structure. Additionally, you must construct a coherent argument in two distinct essays. One essay is based on a reading passage, while the other is based on a writing prompt. The speaking and writing sections are the only ones that do not include multiple-choice questions. Allotted Time: 50 minutes Number of Tasks: 2 Type of Questions: Essay TOEFL Administration - What You Need to Know to Register The TOEFL is administered on specific dates throughout the year. Most years, there are more than 50 dates on which you can take the exam, so it is pretty easy to find a test day that works for your schedule. Additionally, the ETS gives you three ways to register: online, by phone, or by mail. You can learn more about the registration process and fees on the ETS website. What Happens During the TOEFL? TOEFL tests must be taken at an authorized ETS testing center. Generally, you should expect to spend between 4-5 hours at the testing center on the day of the test. You should try to show up at least 30 minutes prior to your test time, as you will need to sign in and show your I.D. to the test administrator. You will spend between 120-170 minutes on the first two sections (Reading and Listening) before taking a 10 minute break. The allotted time and number of questions varies for the first two sections, as some of the questions are experimental and do not count toward your final score. The number of experimental questions varies for each test. After the 10 minute break, you will move on to the final two sections (Speaking and Writing). You are allowed to take notes during the test, however you cannot speak to anyone else. Like most standardized tests, you will need to notify a test administrator if you have any questions or problems. Who is Eligible to Take the TOEFL? The ETS requires all students to show a valid form of ID in order to register and take the TOEFL. You can learn about the exact requirements for identification right here. Generally, you are eligible for the TOEFL as long as you can present an unexpired, government-issued ID with a recent picture. For students who are under 18, it is recommended that you bring your parent or guardian with you on the day of the test. If you are 15 or under, both you and your parent/guardian must present valid ID at the test center. TOEFL Scores - How Are They Calculated? Each section is scored individually out of 30. Then, the scores are combined for a final score out of 120. For the speaking and writing sections, each task is scored on a scale from 0-4 (speaking) or 0-5 (writing). Internationally, the average TOEFL score is 82. Most universities set a minimum acceptable score, which varies for each school. The minimum acceptable scores are significantly higher for graduate level applicants. Though your target score will largely depend on the type of university you want to attend, a score of 94 or higher will put you in the top 25% of all test takers. TOEFL FAQs TOEFL scores range from 0 to 120. The four sections are each given scores on a scale from 0 to 30. The four sections include reading, listening, speaking, and writing. TOEFL prep courses are great for students who want to freshen up on material and learn test taking strategies for the TOEFL. A prep course is a great investment and will help you get into your dream school. The fees will depend on a variety of factors, including the location of your testing center. That said, you can generally expect to pay around $200 USD every time you take the test. Make sure you are ready for the TOEFL by taking our free practice tests! You can see your TOEFL score online approximately 10 days after taking the test. Your score will also be sent to the universities of your choice around the same time that they are posted online, though the delivery time will vary based on your desired school's location. For more information, see our guide to TOEFL scores. The TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) Exam is intended to measure a student's ability to understand and use English at a college level. Over 6,000 colleges, government organizations, and businesses accept TOEFL test scores worldwide. The TOEFL Test serves a similar function to other standardized tests (such as SAT and ACT Tests) in that they used by colleges and universities as a factor in admissions. Different institutions place varying degrees of importance on TOEFL Scores, and use them along with other factors such as GPA, class rank, community service, recommendations and extracurricular activities. The TOEFL Test is only one factor that colleges use in their admissions processes, but it can be an important factor – so you should prepare and strive to do well on the test. Last Updated: 3/4/2022
